Spot the difference is a game we usually play on smartphones or newspaper. So how about making this game into reality?

This game should be played in a room with various items like a living room. The items of the room should be arranged for the game and you can also place your personal items. Let your child see the arrangement for 1-2 minutes and tell them to look carefully. Then blindfold them or send them to another room as you change the arrangement of the items. Call them back and give them about 3-5 minutes to spot the differences of the arrangement. Make at least 5 changes to make the game more exciting.

If you have more than one child, you can give them turns to make the differences.
